9. Defendants are subject to this Court’s specific and general personal jurisdiction under due process and/or the Texas Long Arm Statute due at least to Defendants’ substantial business in this forum, including: (i) at least a portion of the infringements alleged herein; and (ii) regularly doing or soliciting business, engaging in other persistent courses of conduct, and/or deriving substantial revenue from goods and services provided to individuals in Texas and in this district.

KNOWLEDGE

10. This lawsuit involves, as will be further described below, infringement of U.S. Patent Nos. 5,826,026 and 6,216,156.

11. Defendants have or will have knowledge of the patents-in-suit at least of the filing date and/or service date of this complaint.

12. Defendants' infringement is willful at least as of the filing date and/or service date of this complaint.

COUNT I: INFRINGEMENT OF U.S. PATENT NO. 5,826,026

13. On Oct. 20, 1998, United States Patent No. 5,826,026 ("the 026 patent") was duly and legally issued by the United States Patent and Trademark Office for an invention titled "Internet Message Communicator With Direct Output To A Hard Copy Device."

14. Dynamic Hosting is the owner of the 026 patent with all substantive rights in and to that patent, including the sole and exclusive right to prosecute this action and enforce the 026 patent against infringers, and to collect damages for all relevant times.

15. ASUS made, had made, used, imported, provided, supplied, distributed, sold, and/or offered for sale mobile phones with a visual voicemail app that connects over cellular networks (including, based on information on its or other websites, at least the following models: PadFone X, PadFone X mini, Garmin-ASUS Garminfone) that directly infringed one or more claims of the 026 patent.

16. Garmin made, had made, used, imported, provided, supplied, distributed, sold, and/or offered for sale mobile phones with a visual voicemail app that connects over cellular networks (including, based on information on its or other websites, at least the following models: Garmin-ASUS Garminfone) that directly infringed one or more claims of the 026 patent.

17. In addition, customers of Defendants used mobile phones with a visual voicemail app that connects over cellular networks (including, based on information on its or other websites, at least the following models: PadFone X, PadFone X mini, and/or Garmin-ASUS Garminfone), thus directly infringing one or more claims of the 026 patent.

18. Defendants induced the infringement of the abovementioned customers.

19. Defendants took active steps, directly and/or through contractual relationships with others, to cause infringement with both knowledge of the 026 patent and the specific intent to cause the abovementioned customers to use mobile phones with a visual voicemail app that connects over cellular networks in a manner that infringed the 026 patent. Such steps by Defendants included, among other things, advising or directing the abovementioned customers to use mobile phones with a visual voicemail app that connects over cellular networks in an infringing manner; advertising and promoting the use of mobile phones with a visual voicemail app that connects over cellular networks in an infringing manner; and/or distributing instructions that guide users to use the mobile phones with a visual voicemail app that connects over cellular networks in an infringing manner.

20. Defendants contributed to the infringement of the abovementioned customers.

21. The infringing mobile phones with a visual voicemail app that connects over cellular networks used by the abovementioned customers have hardware and/or software components that are especially designed to be used with a visual voicemail functionality, and are especially designed to be used in an infringing way. These components in these mobile phones with a visual voicemail app that connects over cellular networks constitute a material part of the invention of one or more asserted claims of the 026 patent and are not staple articles of commerce suitable for substantial non-infringing use. These distinct and separate components are used only to carry out the visual voicemail functionality in an infringing way and not any other mobile phone functionality.

22. Dynamic Hosting has been damaged as a result of the infringing conduct by Defendants alleged above. Thus, Defendants are liable to Dynamic Hosting in an amount that adequately compensates Dynamic Hosting for such infringements, which, by law, cannot be less than a reasonable royalty, together with interest and costs as fixed by this Court under 35 U.S.C. § 284.

23. Dynamic Hosting and/or its predecessors-in-interest have satisfied all statutory obligations required to collect pre-filing damages for the full period allowed by law.

COUNT II: INFRINGEMENT OF U.S. PATENT NO. 6,216,156

24. On April 10, 2001, United States Patent No. 6,216,156 (“the 156 patent”) was duly and legally issued by the United States Patent and Trademark Office for an invention titled “Internet Message Communicator With Direct Output To A Hard Copy Device.”

25. Dynamic Hosting is the owner of the 156 patent with all substantive rights in and to that patent, including the sole and exclusive right to prosecute this action and enforce the 156 patent against infringers, and to collect damages for all relevant times.

26. ASUS made, had made, used, imported, provided, supplied, distributed, sold, and/or offered for sale mobile phones with a visual voicemail app that connects over cellular networks (including, based on information on its or other websites, at least the following models: PadFone X, PadFone X mini, Garmin-ASUS Garminfone) that directly infringed one or more claims of the 156 patent.

27. Garmin made, had made, used, imported, provided, supplied, distributed, sold, and/or offered for sale mobile phones with a visual voicemail app that connects over cellular networks (including, based on information on its or other websites, at least the following models: Garmin-ASUS Garminfone) that directly infringed one or more claims of the 156 patent.

28. In addition, customers of Defendants used mobile phones with a visual voicemail app that connects over cellular networks (including, based on information on its or other websites, at least the following models: PadFone X, PadFone X mini, and/or Garmin-ASUS Garminfone), thus directly infringing one or more claims of the 156 patent.

29. Defendants induced the infringement of the abovementioned customers.

30. Defendants took active steps, directly and/or through contractual relationships with others, to cause infringement with both knowledge of the 156 patent and the specific intent to cause the abovementioned customers to use mobile phones with a visual voicemail app that connects over cellular networks in a manner that infringed the 156 patent. Such steps by Defendants included, among other things, advising or directing the abovementioned customers to use mobile phones with a visual voicemail app that connects over cellular networks in an infringing manner; advertising and promoting the use of mobile phones with a visual voicemail app that connects over cellular networks in an infringing manner; and/or distributing instructions that guide users to use the mobile phones with a visual voicemail app that connects over cellular networks in an infringing manner.

31. Defendants contributed to the infringement of the abovementioned customers.

32. The infringing mobile phones with a visual voicemail app that connects over cellular networks used by the abovementioned customers have hardware and/or software components that are especially designed to be used with a visual voicemail functionality, and are especially designed to be used in an infringing way. These components in these mobile phones with a visual voicemail app that connects over cellular networks constitute a material part of the invention of one or more asserted claims of the 156 patent and are not staple articles of commerce suitable for substantial non-infringing use. These distinct and separate components are used only to carry out the visual voicemail functionality in an infringing way and not any other mobile phone functionality.

33. Dynamic Hosting has been damaged as a result of the infringing conduct by Defendants alleged above. Thus, Defendants are liable to Dynamic Hosting in an amount that adequately compensates Dynamic Hosting for such infringements, which, by law, cannot be less than a reasonable royalty, together with interest and costs as fixed by this Court under 35 U.S.C. § 284.

34. Dynamic Hosting and/or its predecessors-in-interest have satisfied all statutory obligations required to collect pre-filing damages for the full period allowed by law.

JURY DEMAND

Dynamic Hosting hereby requests a trial by jury on all issues so triable by right.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

- b. Judgment that Defendants account for and pay to Dynamic Hosting all damages to and costs incurred by Dynamic Hosting because of Defendants' infringing activities and other conduct complained of herein;
- c. That Defendants' infringement be found to be willful, and that the Court award treble damages for the period of such willful infringement under 35 U.S.C. § 284;

d. A permanent injunction enjoining Defendants and their respective officers, directors, agents, servants, affiliates, employees, divisions, branches, subsidiaries, parents, and all others acting in active concert therewith from infringement of the 026 and 156 patents;

g. Other and further relief as the Court may deem just and proper under the circumstances.
